

SPI 387: Education Policy

Week 10 Precept

Discussion Question

Thinking back to Jen Jennings's manuscript, The Scarcity Loop, what was a student case that you found interesting? What did this case teach you about the school choice process?

Debate Question: Which admission rule is fairest?

Equal-Eligibility Lottery: Students face the same odds at every school to which they apply; neither geography nor prior achievement is used.

Mixed-Priority Choice: All students may apply to all schools; admissions weight both geography (proximity) and 7th-grade achievement.

Score-Held-Constant Parity: Among students with the same test scores, odds of admission are the same regardless of address.

Precept Feedback!